1 Simplify Navigation

Bringing it more in-line with other Government sites and make it feel on Brand. Less clutter and no bombardment of wordy content - it overwhelms. A clean visual look too.

2 Content & Functionality

Content is king and to see it easily and not make you think its really important. I have made this a visually led site with clean typography and large simple visuals that makes understanding clear.

Click article - it will take you to article (right) in Model format. But if there are sub-sections: the panel slides up to make choice.

3 Openness

I wanted the site to show an open hand like the NSW Gov site and thought that the Contact us from the head of NSW Water was sincere and also other main stream questions would be good here...plus gathering that site Help (Yes or No).

4 Large Modal that keeps you on same screen

The site bothered me with some info being short & some info being long charts (or) it wouldn't look great on a full screen. I wanted to keep users on screen and decided a large News model would solve this. I even gave the tinted background some Government colours and look cheerful in tone. Like to see this area use Video and you can even use the modal to go to Previous article / Next article and you can Share story...and once clicked the bottom pane will expand downwards and take the info to send out.
